

ALMOND HILL HOUSE

Driving from Granada airport

Almond Hill House is in the hamlet of Las Barreras, 2km from Órgiva. The drive from Granada airport (65kms) takes 55 minutes.

Almond Hill House GPS coordinates

36.898098, -3.436849 This brings you to the point where you turn left down the final stretch to the house (rather than the front gate). This is as far as some Sat Nav maps go.

Overview

Drive east from the airport towards Granada and south towards Motril on the A44. Turn off the A44 onto the A348 to Lanjarón. Exit Lanjarón and follow the detailed directions below to get to the house. From this direction, you get to Almond Hill House before reaching Órgiva.

Detailed directions

Granada airport to Lanjarón

1. When leaving the airport, after around 3 km, carefully look for the right-hand ramp signposted Granada/Santa Fé - which gets you onto the A329
2. After 10 km exit onto the A44 in the direction of Motril
3. After 25 kms, exit onto the A348 for Lanjarón
4. Go round a couple of roundabouts from the slip road, following signposts to Lanjarón and La Alpujarra
5. Drive to Lanjarón, and follow signs to Órgiva (via by-pass) staying on the A348

Lanjarón to Las Barreras

6. Ten minutes after Lanjarón (still on the A348) you will pass the CAMPING PUERTA DE LA ALPUJARRA on your right hand side – look out for the red triangular roofs

7. The road then bends to the right and you should start to indicate to turn right
8. Turn sharp right at the small bar – opposite Jamones Rosillo SEE PICTURE BELOW

Las Barreras to Almond Hill House

9. Turn right at the bar onto a winding country lane, follow for 750 metres
10. A 'snail shell' symbol on grey stone is a useful landmark - turn LEFT just after it
11. Go down a 100m steepish hill
12. The entrance to Almond Hill House is on the right hand side
13. Park at any point along the 100m drive
